INTRODUCTION AND METHODOLOGY

PP2-RISPTUR supported by LP1 and PP3 realized this report (D1.1.2) which is the result of research and analysis detailing the tourism stakeholders mapped in the project area. The partners were asked to analyse each own area (Pesaro-Urbino province and Split-Dalmatia County) to find useful stakeholders to be involved in the project. The research is divided in two lists: stakeholders directly operating with the project targets (key figures for the focus groups to validate the themes and to spread the word among colleagues) and general tourism stakeholders of the project area relevant for the 10 themes identified in D1.1.1 (stakeholders that don't work with the project target yet, who will therefore be invited to the training sessions). Both types of stakeholders will be included in the realization of itineraries and packages, the second ones only after participating to the training sessions.

The methodology to realize this report foresaw the use of several different tools:

- Desk research based on already realized lists for each sub-group identified.
- Desk research to identify proactive stakeholders in the sector according to news, website articles, press releases.
- Scientific articles, online books, blogs and all types of materials used to realize D1.1.1 which contained references to stakeholders.
- Direct knowledge of stakeholders operating both generally in the world of tourism and specifically for people travelling with dogs or visually impaired people.

The stakeholders included in the report will be contacted and invited to participate in the transnational training sessions, while some of them were already contacted for the focus groups (D1.1.3) and in the Project Kick-Off-meeting of September 2023.

As indicated in the text of D1.1.2, data from Booking.com, Visititaly.com, Redakcija.hr Google and TripAdvisor these accommodations have been praised by its excellent service for the travelers with animal in the Adriatic region of Italy and Croatia. Matt Schuyler, the brand director for Hilton hotel, emphasizes that modern travelers have a strong preference for accommodations that are entirely pet friendly, as opposed to merely tolerant for pets. Recently, Canopy, one of the hotel chain’s brands, introduced a new program called: “Paws in the Neighborhood”. This initiative offers a range of amenities for pets, including access to comfortable dog beds, food and water bowls, delightful treats and a guide to pet-friendly activities in the area. In a similar vein, a few months ago, Mars Petcare and Hilton joined forces to establish new benchmarks and promote pet-friendly travel. Under this partnership, the contract encompasses all facilities within the Canopy by Hilton, Embassy Suites by Hilton, Garden Hilton, Tru by Hilton and Homewood Suites by Hilton brands. In line with the principles of inclusivity and diversity, above-mentioned organizations and associations are working to make tourist destinations accessible to all, particularly in this case for visually impaired people. They actively engage in crafting immersive experiences for travelers with disabilities with a wide range of different focuses. Croatian Blind Union and Italian Union of Blind and Partially Sighted People collaborate with tourism authorities to advocate for accessible infrastructure, resources for travelers, accessible accommodation and many more related services. As reported by the World Health Organization and Vision Atlas, Europe estimates more than 30 million visually impaired people with Croatia accounting for 780,000 and Italy 6.2 million people (2020 data). According to UNWTO, more than 70% of people with disabilities in Europe can afford traveling, there exists both a substantial opportunity and a crucial requirement for the tourism industry to cater the needs of visually impaired people. At European level, European Network for Accessible Tourism along with Academic Network of European Disability Experts, Assistance Dog International and European Disability Forum play integral roles in promoting inclusivity and accessibility for visually impaired travelers where Italy and Croatia are both members of these associations. Additionally, specialized in creating guided tours and activities that provide to the needs of visually impaired visitors included in the research are Isola Tour Association Venice, La girobussola travel organization and Association of Touristic Guides “Mihovil” Šibenik.

The legal framework in Italy, Croatia, and the European Union ensures that visually impaired travelers can enjoy accessible tourism opportunities emphasizing its importance. These regulations are designed to ensure equal opportunities and rights for individuals with disabilities, enabling them to fully participate in leisure, travel and tourism activities.

In Italy, laws such as Articles 26 to 28 of law 104/92 focus on mobility and transport accessibility. These articles call upon regions to regulate how municipalities prepare actions to facilitate the free circulation of persons with disabilities, including visually impaired individuals, using public transport just like any other citizens. Additionally, Law No 37 of February 14, 1974, allows guide dogs on public transport and into public buildings free of charge. Law No 60 of February 8, 2006, imposes fines for denying access to guide dogs and specifies the requirements for their entry into various places. Moreover, guidelines have been drafted to eliminate architectural barriers in cultural sites, ensuring accessibility for all.

Similarly, Croatia has implemented laws to promote accessible tourism. According to the Academic Network of European Disability Experts, Croatia is among the EU countries that have implemented accessibility requirements for taxi booking services under legislative frameworks. The Croatian Railways signed the IUR Agreement on Rail Transport for Blind People and their Guide. This agreement grants visually impaired people certain rights related to rail travel in participating countries. Laws such as the "Zakon o Kretanju Slijepe osobe uz pomoc psa vodica" guarantee access rights for guide dogs in various public places. The Croatian Railways have also signed agreements to provide free tickets for guides or guide dogs for visually impaired people traveling to countries that signed the agreement. Additionally, the government has established that ferry tickets at the state level are free of charge for people with visual impairment.

European Union laws and regulations emphasize the importance of accessibility and protection against discrimination. The Charter of Fundamental Rights and the European Agreement for the Protection of Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms underscore the rights of individuals with disabilities to access leisure, travel, and tourism opportunities. The Air Passengers' Rights Regulation (1107/2006) and Regulations on the rights of rail passengers (Regulation 1370/2007 and Regulation 1371/2007) provide comprehensive assistance and protection for passengers with reduced mobility.

2. TARGET STAKEHOLDERS FOR THE 10 RELEVANT THEMES IN OMNIS PROJECT'S TERRITORIES

Beside stakeholders directly working and collaborating with or for visually impaired people and people travelling with their pets/guide dogs, the research goes further, identifying some more stakeholders useful for the creation of the itineraries and packages based on the offer of the project area and on the 10 themes identified in D1.1.1. The following subjects are therefore a useful list of stakeholders to be involved and to be made aware of the existence of market of the project targets through the next steps of the project and later involved as the offer of the itineraries. Moreover, they represent interesting subjects to involve in the training sessions foreseen in Activity 1.2.

CONCLUSION

This report is a very practical tool for all partners. The result is a list of almost 500 stakeholders divided in different categories (accommodations, associations, digital platforms, public authorities, restaurants, tourism organizations, tourist attractions, transportation, wineries,...).

This report confirmed the opportunities for the ten themes identified in D1.1.1; it will made possible to create the training sessions where the stakeholders listed will be directly invited or later involved thanks to the digital tools the project will create; it will be a good database (after consensual confirmation) to keep informing stakeholders about the project's news and development; finally it is an essential tool for the creation of the itineraries and the stakeholders that will be included in it.

The deliverable is considered finalized since it has all useful information and materials we need to go on with next steps, but partners are aware that they can get in touch with some new stakeholders which may be included. This will be made especially in the Croatian area which counts fewer stakeholders than the Italian one, since the sensibility on the theme is a little bit less marked and the Croatian partner (PP3) is not a public one, therefore has limited access to open databases (as it is possible for LP1, being a public authority). For this reason, in the next period an “addendum” will be created, i.e. a second additional document containing further lists of stakeholders.
