THE TRANSPOGOOD PLATFORM AT THE CENTER OF THE ZADAR MEETING - BIG STEPS AHEAD TOWARDS THE CAPITALIZATION

Zadar Port Authority welcomed TRANSPOGOOD project partners on the Project partner and Steering Committee meeting. The meeting was held in the new building of the Zadar Port Authority on February 26-27, 2019.

Project partners joined forces to facilitate implementation of the project activities. The main topic of the meeting was the development of the TRANSPOGOOD platform. Enriched with innovative profile calculators the platform allows logistics and transport stakeholders and users to optimize and select the best option very quickly and easily in terms of: best price of the combined transport, lower emissions of the entire chain, and availability of intermodal options.

The TRANSPOGOOD platform will provide information for road and ferry links and considered transport units will be trucks and trailers. Road network will be calibrated for trucks (generalized cost, network shape and timing for trucks); The road network covers Italy-Croatia links as well as national sea cabotage.

What's new is also the integration with the Port of Ploče system, that will host the platform on their systems, is allowed to provide some PCS data (such as parking spots and berth availability) to be available in real-time to Transpogood users.

With hard work of all partners, details regarding TRANSPOGOOD platform's technical design and functionality have been shared. Key decisions on specifications and system architecture have been agreed upon, and next step for the development of the Platform have been clarified.

As part of the meeting, a fruitful project workshop has been organized in order to present the project to the local stakeholders. After the workshop, the stakeholders and partners continued with the more informal bilateral meetings as part of the networking coffee break, when many great ideas for future cooperation were shared.

Finally, the latest development of the TRANSPOGOOD platform shows the potential, after its development for the Italy-Croatian cross border relations, to be later expanded and enhanced, integrating other connections and areas.

Presentation of the TRANSPOGOOD project and the online platform for multimodal transport at the Propeller Venezia Initiative

The online platform for multimodal transport developed by the TRANSPOGOOD project will be presented by the Intermodal Logistics Training Consortium (CFLI) on 12 March in Mestre (Hotel Bologna at 5.00 pm) during the initiative promoted by the Propeller Club Port of Venice.

The INTERNATIONAL PROPELLER CLUB

Port of Venice

For about a year, the Intermodal Logistic Training Consortium is collaborating with the Italian-Croatian partnership of TRANSPOGOOD to find solutions that make multimodal transport more sustainable and efficient.

Among the activities in support of the main logistics operators (shippers, logistics service providers, transport operators and authorities), CFLI will present the functions of the IT platform that has a free online access that will allow users to find the best solutions for intermodal transport.

"With this project we intend to propose operational solutions to overcome the various factors that hinder an efficient intermodal and multimodal transport on the Adriatic Sea" - explains Enrico Morgante, CFLI Director - "the platform will indicate, for example, the cheaper price for intermodal transport and the benefits in terms of reducing emissions from the whole transport chain. "

"The Propeller" - recalls its president Massimo Bernardo - "is a Club that privileges the cultural aspects and gathering people who are willing to share interesting dynamics in the field of logistics and transport", for this reason the activities of TRANSPOGOOD represent an opportunity to reinforce this spirit of dialogue among stakeholders".
