Context

The Open Call is managed by BlueDiversity, under the Interreg Italy-Croatia programme, in the context of Work Package 3 'Blue Education, Training and Culture'.

BlueDiversity aims at improving the understanding and the exploitation of the ecosystem services to balance the need for preservation of ecosystems and the economic necessities of the local population. BlueDiversity targets ecosystem services and their use, biodiversity, marine litter, Non-Indigenous Species (NIS) and the blue crab (Callinectes sapidus).

Moreover, BlueDiversity has the goal of involving young students and professionals in interregional training schemes to transmit the knowledge developed within the project and to promote a sustainable exploitation of the ecosystem services.

BlueDiversity WorkPackage 3 includes the design, development, creation and delivery of two educational paths specifically tailored to young students and professionals active in the maritime field, especially those having a close relationship with the ecosystem.

Expected Outcome: 20 participants in the interregional training scheme "BlueDiversity training for Students".

When: organized between February and April 2026.

Duration of the training: 12 hours.

Venue of the training:

- Italy: Apulia, hosted by University of Salento;
- Croatia: Split, hosted by Institute of Oceanography and Fisheries.
